NIF was our first child — conceived 40 years ago in the hope of giving birth to a different way to support the growth of democracy and social justice in Israel. The 40th Anniversary Legacy Giving Campaign is the way to ensure NIF will continue working to make Israel the country we need it to be.

The New Israel Fund has been central to my ability to fulfill my moral responsibility and Jewish identity. It has facilitated my giving to effective organizations working on justice, education, environment, diversity, and health. I want to help NIF respond to current needs and to build its capacity to sustain its work in the future.

Whoever would’ve thought back in 1979 when I went to Israel for the first time along with NIF’s founders that today we’d be celebrating this 40th anniversary. Remarkably, many of the issues we focused on during that trip — especially equal rights for women, Arab populations, and LGBTQ people — still require NIF intervention… and probably always will. That’s the reason I’m helping to make sure NIF continues long after I’m gone.

NIF is indeed a beacon of “light unto the nations,” fighting for the values that were enshrined in the Israeli Declaration of Independence, and which are in continual danger of being eclipsed. We look forward to doing our part in keeping this beacon shining, both in our ongoing support and our legacy giving.

My decision to make a legacy gift to NIF was an easy one. It provides a way to reflect into the future something of great importance to me; a way to help Israel uphold its founding tenets of democracy, justice, inclusion and equality for all; and a way to ensure that the place where I choose to devote my efforts and energy continues to have my support and can keep doing its crucial work, well into the future.

As a Jew, justice is at the core of all I hold dear. NIF, through a multitude of its creative and effective programs, brings to the table ways I can support justice not only for the Jewish people but for all the people of the Holy Land: Christians, Muslims, Druze, Ethiopians, Russians — all those seeking a just, diverse and shared society.
